Most low-income community college students can now receive SNAP benefits (Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program | Food Stamps). SNAP provides benefits to help you buy food at grocery stores.

Prior to January 2018, students had to be working 20 hours per week, participating as a work-study, have young children, or have health problems to get SNAP. Now, Pennsylvania's community college students enrolled in programs that will improve their employability can also qualify for SNAP.

Apply online at www.compass.state.pa.us.

You may also apply at the Assistance Office in your county. In Cambria and Indiana Counties, you may simply call the SNAP Advocate at 1-833-822-SNAP (7627) for assistance.
